

ARAGON MILL written by Si Kahn, early 1970's

[C] At the east end of town,
At the [Am] foot of the hill,
There's a [G] chimney so tall,
That says [F] "Aragon [C] Mill"

[C] But there's no smoke at all,
Comin' [Am] out of the stack,
Cause the [G] mill has shut down
And it [F] ain't comin' [C] back.

Chorus

[C] And the only sound I hear,
Is the [Am] cry of the wind,
As it [G] blows through the town,
Weave and [F] spin, weave and [C] spin.

[C] There's no children at all,
In the [Am] narrow, empty street.
Since the [G] mills have all gone,
It's so [F] quiet I can't [C] sleep.

[C] Now I'm too old to change
And I'm [Am] too young to die.
And there's [G] no place to go
For my [F] woman and I.

<C>

Chorus

[C] Since the mill has shut down,
Lord, it's [Am] all that I know.
Tell me [G] what will I do,
Tell me [F] where will I [C] go.

Chorus with wrap around of last two lines
... As it [G]blows through the town,
Weave and [F] spin, weave and [C] spin.
